Global Challenges for Generation “Next”

Deutsche Bank, 60 Wall St
New York, NY 10005

Thursday, November 5, 2015

The millennial generation in Europe and the United States has come of age in a rapidly changing global environment. While some characterize this generation as narcissistic and self-entitled, others argue that these “digital natives” are intensely engaged in an increasingly diverse, connected world. This symposium will examine this new transatlantic generation’s perspectives on a range of solutions to emerging global challenges.
